

ZEN Vibes September 2023

President's Corner

One of my focal points this year has been improving family relations. This month has really tested our will in this area. In August we hosted a family fun day where we played old school games, like we were young again. But then, we received news about the pending loss of close family members for multiple Sorors. This reminds us how precious life is. We say it, but it has no value until you are the one facing a personal loss. Keep praying for those around you and allow others some grace without judgement. The same grace and favor you allow others is the same grace and favor that you shall receive. Peace and Blessings to all!

I love you because I love me!

Madame President Smith
